HUGE CROWD TO SEE THAW SECOND TRIAL

Platoon of Police Keep Multitude From the Court Room.

YOUNG WIFE IS THERE

Prosecution to Insist That Prisoner Was Sane When He Shot Stanford White, and Will Demand Death Penalty

NEW YORK—Special—The second trial of Harry Kendall Thaw for the murder of Stanford White on the roof of the Madison Square Garden on June 25, 1906, began today, with a platoon of one hundred police holding in check the huge crowd that sought to witness the beginning of the proceedings.

The place of Delmas is occupied by Martin Littleton. Daniel O'Riley, Thaw's adviser, is in his old place at the counsel table, and so is Russell Peabody. Thaw's young wife is at her accustomed seat, and so also Joshua and Edward Thaw and young Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie, who is the accused man's sister.

His mother is confined to her home through illness, and the Countess of Yarmouth is in England with the Thaw domestic sorrows and plights. Pending her suit for divorce, her attendance at her brother's trial is impossible.

Jerome, looking vigorous after his rest, and Garvan, his assistant, were on hand early. Soon after the trial started today will be more intensely dramatic because it is generally felt that is for Thaw's life. Jerome at the first trial believed Thaw insane, a theory he spouts. Even after the trial ended, his opinion had not altered. Now he believes Thaw sane, and will contend that as he is today, sane, he was mentally unbalanced—so he was when he shot White, and following. Jerome will bend all his energies to send Thaw to the electric chair.

Only reporters and talesmen were admitted to the court room. Deputy Dowling, alert, is in the place that Judge Fitzgerald occupied at the first trial. And finally, Thaw himself, looking pale, but composed, came in. The last trial and looking fresher, brighter and more self-contained, made his appearance with a Tomb's keeper at his elbow.

MAKE ARMY SERVICE MORE ATTRACTIVE

Secretary Taft Complains of Falling Off in Enlistments

SOLDIERS' PAY TOO LOW

Cannot Induce Men to Enlist at $13 Per Month While Civilian Occupations Offer Better Pay. Would Limit Special Duty Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Special—The annual report of Secretary of War Taft was submitted today. He calls all reference to the canteen, or to anything else that could be construed into it, the faintest allusion to which is carefully avoided. He says that greater inducements should be offered for re-enlistments.

The matter of enlistments and reenlistments is clearly the most important problem of the army today according to the secretary and he devotes much of his report to that subject. He says in part:

"It has been found impossible to secure the full number of enlisted men for the army that is authorized by law, and executive order made in pursuance of law. The results in this respect were not as satisfactory for the past fiscal year as they were for the year preceding, although increased efforts were made to that end, and every practicable method that could be devised resorted to. The present enlisted strength of the army is 50,141 men, while that of the law is 61,739. There is room aboard for 74,000 men; and, although, the department has been able to get without half trying, it has not succeeded in raising the average number of men for the year ending. Jne rome will bend all its energies to send Thaw to the electric chair.

Only reporters and talesmen were admitted to the court room. Deputy Dowling, alert, is in the place that Judge Fitzgerald occupied at the first trial. And finally, Thaw himself, looking pale, but composed, came in. The last trial and looking fresher, brighter and more self-contained, made his appearance with a Tomb's keeper at his elbow.

DR. PRIDDY GIVES ALIENISTS A WHACK

Superintendent of Southwestern Hospital Ridivules So-Called Experts Who Testify For the Fee That is Paid Them—He Would Have the Practice Abolished

RICHMOND, VA.—Special—

Dr. A. S. Priddy, former member of the Legislature from Smyth county and present superintendent for the Southwestern Hospital for the Insane, at Marion, is not afraid to hurl his lance at windmills, and following up his conspicuously in most criminal trials in which there has been just ground for complaint, he has on this occasion to give these venal "experts" a dig that will make them sit up. He rather goes out of his way to do it in his annual report to the governor on the various causes leading up to insanity, but the subject is germane to the subject, he treats of "that kind of testimony that is given by experts in the drawing of a gun and disappears with the flash of powder." He says that "imported alienists and experts, whose only connection with the case is that they are employed by one side or the other, declares that the mythical "dementia Americana" is responsible for crime. In the hospital that I am in charge of, I am frequently in court. He ridicules the modern "experts" who are called in and "distinguished alienists," and expresses the hope that the Bar Association and medico-legal associations will soon take some action that will bar out for witnesses to give expert evidence those who are fixed by law as not being intelligent and conscientious professional men. A few days ago I was called to testifying on account of the odium which has been imported alienists and experts have brought on medical expert testimony.

"Disappearing" Insanity.

Following further he comments paragraphs of the expert testimony:

"It is to be deplored that the high standard which the profession has attained for the opinion of physicians as witnesses in the courts, the study and treatment of insanity, has been lowered by the testimony in cases by the employment of that class known as experts and so-called 'distinguished alienists, etc.,' imported from a distance, and sworn to the jury the benefit of what information they may have acquired in personal examination subsequent to property. When the supply of men and women is not equal to the demand for them, although the wages offered are from $75 to $125 per month a day, it is not strange that men do not care to enlist in the army at $13 a month. Although their real compensation is much more than this, because they are well housed and fed and clothed, and receive medical and dental services in addition, still the life is full of hard work with the drills and practice marches and fatigue duty are essential to the proper training of a soldier, and inseparable from the maintenance of an army post in good condition.

Another problem is that of officers detached for special duty. He says: "Generally their work is of a military character, and in the very cases in which they are most valuable can be no doubt that the duty performed is of such character that they are driven to their desks and will be dispensed with. The fact remains that the efficiency of the army and number of officers from their corps detached for such duty is based upon discipline and efficiency of the army.

BROWNSTOWN, JAMAICA—Special. A heavy earthquake shock was felt throughout the island of Jamaica at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and it is believed that the town of Stewartston, Jamaica, was the chief sufferer among the towns and villages of the island which had been badly shaken in the quake. It was a mass of ruins and debris. Other buildings in the town were damaged, but no results in much harm was done in Kingston and other points on the island. The country has been called "the fatal month." Many severe shocks have been felt during the month, and a terrific one was recorded on the 14th. This added to the alarm. The quake which was felt here was apparently from east to west, and lasted for about thirty seconds. There was increasing vibration, which culminated in the big shock.

FAMOUS WOMAN DANCER FOUND DEAD IN ROOM

NEW YORK — Special — "Little Egypt," the original hoochi-koochie dancer, who was known also as Fahreda Barnum Seeley, grandson of the showman, and Captain Charles Seeley, and his sensational raid at Sherry's ball in honor of Lillian Russell, was found dead yesterday in her apartment on the top floors 226 West Thirty-seventh street. Black marks on her throat and breast and blood stains on her night dress led Coroner Scharpsteurgy to believe she had been murdered, and he ordered her body removed to the morgue, where an autopsy will be performed. Detectives under Lieutenant O'Hanlon. Detectives from the West Forty-seventh street Station and Dr. Wexman, who made an investigation, declared that the dancer had died from carbolic acid poisoning.

"Little Egypt's" correct name was Katherine Devere. She began dancing with a burlesque company in the Eighties. Later she was married to Hadi Zorook, a Turk, and they were divorced.

PREMIUM ON HEADS OF NIGHT RAIDERS

Governor of Kentucky Issues Proclamation Offering Reward for Capture and Conviction of Men Who Burned Russellville Warehouses.

FRANKFORT, KY.—Special—Governor Wilson yesterday issued a proclamation in which he offered a reward of $500 for the conviction of any person implicated in the recent "night riders" in the dark tobacco belt. This action was the result of a raid made upon Russellville Thursday night in which twenty warehouses and several other buildings were burned, and four persons severely injured by the raiders. In his statement Governor Wilson said the crimes were clearly a violation of the promises made by the managers of the tobacco associations in that part of the state, and was made to hinder the prosecution of the participants in the recent raid in Hopkinsville by intimidating the witnesses.

The Governor says the raid will not stop the prosecution of the ringleaders in the affair, but will only result in the crippling of the Kentucky tobacco industry. He declares the fight will be pushed against all the leaders in the conspiracy, and that they are known to the pen.

DR. WALTER AMESBURY COMMITTED TO JAIL

DENHAM, MASS.—Special—Dr. Walter Raleigh Amesbury, charged with the murder of his wife, Anna Amesbury, who he shot Christmas Day at their home in Hyde Park, was committed to jail by Judge Northern Norfolk District Court of Dedham, and committed to jail without bail for the April term of the grand jury.

Dr. Amesbury's counsel, Edward Nr., Jr., and Ira R., will be the defense. Dr. Amesbury, who is a graduate of Dartmouth College, and Harvard Medical College, Danville, Va., called on Mrs. Amesbury on the morning of the murder, after which he went to his office to do so, and he shot and killed her. The next day he was arrested at his home by Police Officer Price, and I know that one will be impossible."

Judge Morris told the jury that the evidence that they be kept together as long as there might be a chance for reaching agreement. The jury was then locked up, and it is thought will keep the jury if it does not agree. Powers appears satisfied, although he had hoped for acquittal.

"We will ultimately work to have this charge lifted by jury trial," said Powers today. "And I have already assigned myself to the task of securing the pardon of the political parties that have found me."

DEMAND RESIGNATION OF HOSPITAL SURGEON

RICHMOND, VA.—Special—

The Council Committee on Relief of the Poor at a special meeting held yesterday afternoon at the City Home decided by a vote of four to two to demand the resignation of Dry W. H. Taylor, a young interne who figured on the charge of drunkenness while on duty Sunday night.

Dr. Stroke refuses to tender his resignation, denying the charge. The resolution adopted by the committee carries the provision that in the event the resignation is not forthcoming, the charges shall be investigated by Council.

Testimony before the committee yesterday afternoon by Drs. Richman and Stroke was conflicting. Dr. Richman was exalted, but they could not say he was drunk. The ambulance driver testified that the interne had not been drinking. Dr. Stroke testified that while he was assistant superintendent Dr. Taylor was in his opinion that the young physician was addicted to the use of intoxicants.

Dr. Taylor is charged with a similar offense to that for which Dr. Stroke is charged with, and following his refusal upon signing a pledge not to touch liquor while in the service of the city, he was dismissed.

LO LET HARRIMAN GO BECAUSE OF OTHERS

Chairman Knapp, of Interstate Commerce Commission, Instigates to Fix Precedent in Dissolving Railroad Combine.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Special—The Interstate Commerce Commission, which conducted the famous investigation of the Harriman system, last year, developing all the evidence that has been placed at command of the Department of Justice, is said, by persons, unanimously favorable to the proposed prosecution today.

Chairman Knapp said today:

"If it is decided that the law only applies to 'unreasonable' restraints of trade, the government must prove that there is such restraint, that more than good is done by combinations of railroad systems. Can it prove it?"

Beyond this, is the question of effect on other systems, if a decision could be secured holding that the Union Pacific's control of the Southern Pacific must be loosed. Such a construction would at once apply to the New York Central."

"That road owns most of the stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, two roads, which, between Chicago and Buffalo, are more expressly in competition than the Union and Southern Pacific. Again, should the Pennsylvania Railroad, which owns the stock of the Pennsylvania Company, which, in turn, owns the stock of the Pennsylvania System west of Pittsburg, General Bonaparte, when asked the question which preceded the formation of the combination, said that in his opinion it was legal. The opinion could be published on the subject."

RUBY IN POWERS CASE UNABLE TO AGREE

GEORGETOWN, KY.—Special—The jury in the case of Caleb Powers, accused of complicity in the celebrated murder, after sixteen hours of deliberation, reported to the court this morning that it could not agree. It was 10:25 when the jurors filed into the court room, and through their foreman, J. L. Price, declared that they could not reach a verdict. The announcement from a verdict today the jury have last night." said Foreman Price, "and I know that one will be impossible."

Judge Morris told the jury that the court required that they be kept together as long as there might be a chance for reaching agreement. The jury was then locked up, and it is thought will keep the jury if it does not agree. Powers appears satisfied, although he had hoped for acquittal.

"We will ultimately work to have this charge lifted by jury trial," said Powers today. "And I have already assigned myself to the task of securing the pardon of the political parties that have found me."

DEMAND RESIGNATION OF HOSPITAL SURGEON

RICHMOND, VA.—Special—

The Council Committee on Relief of the Poor at a special meeting held yesterday afternoon at the City Home decided by a vote of four to two to demand the resignation of Dry W. H. Taylor, a young interne who figured on the charge of drunkenness while on duty Sunday night.

Dr. Stroke refuses to tender his resignation, denying the charge. The resolution adopted by the committee carries the provision that in the event the resignation is not forthcoming, the charges shall be investigated by Council.

Testimony before the committee yesterday afternoon by Drs. Richman and Stroke was conflicting. Dr. Richman was exalted, but they could not say he was drunk. The ambulance driver testified that the interne had not been drinking. Dr. Stroke testified that while he was assistant superintendent Dr. Taylor was in his opinion that the young physician was addicted to the use of intoxicants.

Dr. Taylor is charged with a similar offense to that for which Dr. Stroke is charged with, and following his refusal upon signing a pledge not to touch liquor while in the service of the city, he was dismissed.
